My Home is my Castle

Lead-in

- 1 The title above is taken from an English proverb. What do you think it means?

- 2 a. Which of the houses in the pictures:
has: five storeys and a house on top; a fibreglass shark; brick walls; a thatched roof; a chimney; a rock on the roof; wooden stairs up to the front door; stone walls; a pitched roof; a tiled roof?
is: built underground; a castle; built on stilts?

- b. Use the adjectives to describe each house. Give reasons.

- economical • impractical • cold • spacious • cramped
- airy • comfortable • attractive • eccentric

House A is economical to maintain because it doesn't cost very much to heat and cool.

- c. Listen and match the houses to the countries.

five-storey building	Suffolk, England
terraced house	Zimbabwe
hut on stilts	Portugal
rock house	Headington, England

- d. Describe the houses A-D. Think about:

- type of house • location • special features
- general description

The house in picture A is a hut on stilts. It is located in Zimbabwe. It has got a thatched roof and wooden stairs up to the front door. It's cramped but it's probably quite airy.

- e. Which house would you/wouldn't you like to live in? Give reasons.

I'd like to live in the hut on stilts because it looks very attractive to me. I wouldn't like to live in the rock house because it must get very cold.

How would you like to live in a castle, a tree house or even underground? This might not be as unusual as you think. It seems that these days more and more people want to live somewhere special and out of the ordinary, and if they can't buy what they want they are quite prepared to build it from scratch.

For John Mew and his wife Josephine their home really is their castle. They have built their own English castle in the Sussex countryside. The building is brand new with all the luxuries you would expect from a house that cost more than £350,000 to build. However, when you first see it from the outside it would be easy to think that you are looking at an ancient monument. The building has a lot of the features of a traditional castle, including a keep, a moat and a drawbridge. "My choice of house is somewhat eccentric and building it was very hard work, but we've got the perfect place to live," Mew says. Although some would say that the building is impractical and may be cold in harsh British winters, he certainly has got a unique and spacious home.

If you don't look carefully, you might not even see the home that Jonathan Ridley-Jones and Shanon Ridd built at all! That's because the house is a converted underground water tank. The only thing that can be seen from the surface is a door leading into the hillside. "We've never wanted to live in an ordinary house," Shanon says. "Living below ground means that our home is quiet and very cosy – none of the usual draughts. It doesn't damage the local surroundings and has very low fuel bills. Some of our friends find it dark and feel shut in when they first visit, but they soon get used to it!"

In Search of the Perfect Home

If an underground home doesn't appeal to you, 35 how about living in the tree tops? Dan Garner, a tree surgeon from Gloucestershire, certainly thinks that this is the way to go up in the world.

"When our family became short of space at home our solution was to build a luxury tree house in the 40 garden. The tree house is built into a spruce tree six metres above the ground. It has one main room, a bedroom and a balcony running around two sides." Garner is so happy with this practical extension to his home that he thinks he can enjoy more 45 people of the benefits of living in the trees. He wants to run his own enterprise making more of the deluxe tree dwellings, saying, "Tree houses are airy, secure and comfortable and the only disadvantage is that they might not be suitable for people who 50 suffer from hay fever or a fear of heights!"

Even people who live in more ordinary settings sometimes can't manage doing something to make them stand out from the crowd. One extreme example of this is Bill Heines' house in Headington, 55 Oxfordshire. Until one morning in 1986, his house looked much like all the others in his street, when suddenly overnight a 7.5 m long fibreglass shark appeared to have crashed through the roof. The shark was a sculpture by local artist John Buckley. 60 At first some people complained that it might be dangerous or that it spoilt the look of the neighbourhood, but engineers checked that the sculpture was safe and the 'Headington shark' has become a well-known and popular landmark. It 65 seems that no matter where you live, you can always do something to make sure your house says something about who you are.

Reading

- Look at the title of the article. What do you think it is about? Where might you read it? Say words you expect to find in it.
- Read the article and answer the questions.
- Explain the words in bold, then suggest synonyms for the highlighted words.

TIP

Read the text quickly to get a general idea of what it is about.

Look at the first part of the question, then find the part of the text the question refers to. Go through the choices and choose the answer that best fits. Keep in mind that the information may be rephrased. Even if you think you know the correct answer, always check that the others are not appropriate. Check your answer against the text.

- More and more people build their own home
 - so that they can live underground.
 - so that they can have exactly the home they want.
 - because it is cheaper than buying a new house.
 - because they want all the modern luxuries you find in a new home.
- John and Josephine Mew
 - know that their choice of home is unusual.
 - found that creating their dream home was easy.
 - wanted to live like people would have in traditional castles.
 - converted an ancient building into a modern home.
- What do Jonathan Ridley-Jones and Shanon Ridd say about their home?
 - It's just an ordinary house.
 - They always wanted to live underground.
 - It doesn't harm the environment.
 - They don't pay anything for heating and lighting.
- Why did Dan build a tree house in his garden?
 - He wants to persuade people to buy one.
 - His family wanted to live in a tree house.
 - He builds them for a living.
 - His family needed more room.
- The 'Headington shark'
 - was created by Bill Heines.
 - crashed into the roof of Bill Heines' house one night.
 - was immediately popular with everyone in the town.
 - was built without any warning.

Follow-up

- List the advantages and disadvantages of Mew's, Ridd's and Garner's dwellings, then talk about them.
 - What would your ideal house be? Describe it giving reasons.

My ideal house would be a castle. It would be made of ...

- A: 5) 6 o'clock this evening?
- B: That's fine - see you then.

- b. In pairs, take roles and act out dialogues about each of the advertisements in Ex. 6.

9 a. Use the prompts and the linkers to make up sentences for each house, as in the examples.

- both • as well as
- also • besides
- whereas • but
- although • however

	A	B		A	B
• driveway	✓	✓	• balcony	✓	X
• chimney	✓	X	• air conditioning	✓	✓
• garage	✓	✓	• security system	✓	✓
• pool	✓	X	• cellar	X	✓
• garden	✓	✓	• fireplace	✓	X
• attic	✓	✓	• built-in wardrobes	X	✓
• patio	✓	X	• central heating	✓	✓
• fence	X	X	• fitted kitchen	✓	X

Both house A and B have got a driveway.
 House A has got a chimney, but house B hasn't got one.
 House A has got a driveway as well as a garage.
 Besides having a garage, house A has got a driveway.

Writing Project

b. Look at the pictures A and B and write an advertisement for each house. Say if it is for rent/sale, what kind of house it is, how much it costs, what special features it has got and give a telephone number for contact. Use the advertisements in Ex. 6a as models to help you.

Household Chores

10 a. Match the verbs to the nouns.

wash	the beds
dust	the carpets
make	the clothes
iron	the dishes
vacuum	the windows
clean	the floors
mop	the lawn
mow	the furniture

Which of these household chores do you do? How often? Which do you like/not mind/hate doing?

orange	conservative, talkative, adventurous
yellow	shy, reliable, cheerful, generous, impatient, creative
blue	calm, confident, stressed, relaxed, peaceful
green	relaxed, peaceful, refreshed, depressed
white	cheerful, isolated, withdrawn

b. Listen again. What colour would you paint these rooms? Why?

- a dining room • a child's bedroom
- a play area • a living room • a classroom

I would paint a dining room orange because it stimulates the appetite.

12 Use the prepositions and the words in the list to describe the living room.

- in front of • next to • behind • opposite • on
- between • above • in the middle of
- fireplace • candlesticks • carpet • paintings • sofa
- armchair • cushions • plant • glass coffee table
- window • lamp

There is a glass coffee table in front of the sofa.

- what you are doing this weekend
- what you have done so far today

18 How much have you changed since you were five years old? Make up sentences, as in the example.

I've grown my hair long.

19 In pairs, act out dialogues, as in the example.

- sleep outdoors • visit a castle • be in a tree house
- stay at a campsite • redecorate your own bedroom
- stay in a house with its own swimming pool
- have a power cut at your home • move house

A: Have you ever slept outdoors?

B: No, I haven't. Have you ever visited a castle?

A: Yes, I have.

B: Really? When was that?

A: Two years ago. Have you ever ...? etc

20 Use the prompts to act out dialogues, as in the example.

1 exhausted – work/garden

- plant/flowers (✓)
- prune/bushes (✓)
- water/lawn (X)

A: You look exhausted. What have you been doing?
